

As an FBI approved Channeler, National Background Check, Inc. (NBCI), is able to assist adoptive parents with obtaining their FBI background checks. Our company prides itself on the ability to provide expedited FBI criminal background check results along with personalized customer service. We understand that the adoption process can be a long and stressful process, and that time is of the essence. Obtaining an FBI background check through the FBI directly can typically take in excess of six weeks, sometimes longer. By utilizing our company, we are able to obtain your FBI background check directly through the FBI in as little as two to four business days. Also, NBCI's FBI background check results are considered FBI authenticated documents, and as such can be apostilled by the U.S. Department of state. This is a very important point for adopting parents adopting from countries outside of the United States. We can also send you results via a secured email and/or a physical copy through one of our shipping options.

NBCI has been involved with many families who needed their results immediately. We understand the urgency and are always here to assist any soon-to-be parent with their background check requirements. Here are some of the situations we have helped with:

We had a couple call from Texas, and the soon-to-be mom cried on the phone because their daughter was ready for placement but they had not yet received their background check from the FBI. She said they had been waiting for 6 weeks, and it was the last thing they had to obtain. They were afraid that the adoption would not go through if they did not have their background check the following week. She was calling NBCI at that point to see if we could help them, even though they had already applied directly with the FBI. We told her we could help, what the process was, walked her through the 1 page application and asked her to overnight the package to us with their fingerprint cards. Once we received it, we processed both requests immediately, had results by the next day, and overnighted it back to them. When she called to say that they both had gotten the documents, she was crying for joy. She said that her adoption agency had not told her of this process, otherwise she never would have put herself through the stress of trying to obtain it from the FBI. She thanked us over and over again.*

We had a man call from California, and he and his wife were adopting a child. He had gotten the call from the adoption agency that a child was available and ready for placement, but they still needed to have the background check completed. The gentleman said that he called the FBI, and at that time they said it would take 8-10 weeks. The FBI referred him to the Channeler page on their website. He said he chose us because of our name. He sounded very upset when he called, because they were both very anxious to pick up their child. We told him that it would only take us 2-4 days, and that we could overnight the package back to him. He was thrilled, sent in their paperwork, and we were able to return the documents to him within 48 hours.*

Even if your FBI background check isn't due immediately, our Channeling service is still an excellent option because of the personalized customer service we provide. Adoptive parents have the ability to contact our company and speak directly with one of our representatives who can provide the status on their background check results. Helping with your piece of mind and providing reassurance during the adoption process are two of the benefits of working with NBCI. We want to be your partner of choice, when thinking about obtaining your FBI background check.

NBCI is a company that has worked with many adoptive families, and we know that each situation is different. NBCI works to ensure that no family is waiting to meet their future child because of a delayed background check. Please contact us immediately if you need an FBI background check. We would love to help you through this process!
